

The Good Shepherd Alliance
Presents:

“From our Heart to Your Home”

A Collection of Children’s Poems and Essays

Third through fifth Grade Students from Loudoun County elementary schools were asked to write a poem or essay on “what home or homelessness” means to them.

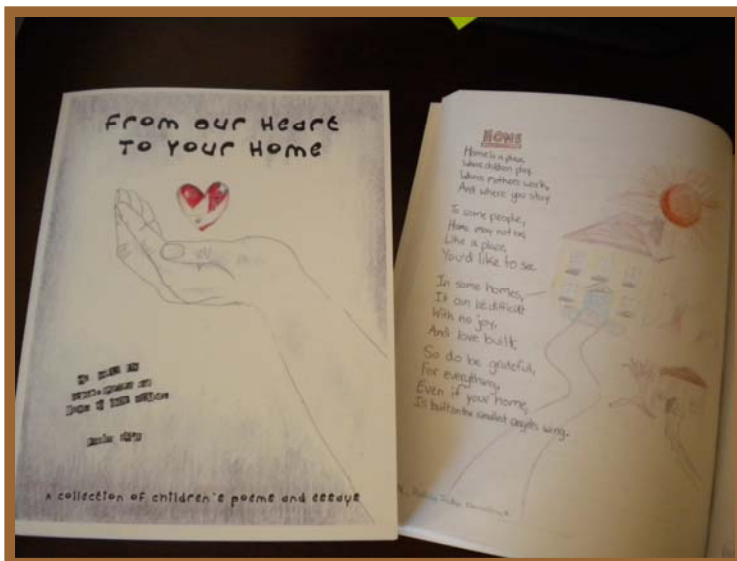

The collection of student poems and essays are both heartwarming and touching in nature, and represents the caring and love that our children have for their fellow neighbors. It is our hope and desire that this collection of our children’s poems and essays will result in an outpouring of love and generosity from the entire Loudoun County community.

The face of the homelessness and those near homelessness, or in need has changed. The tough economic climate and housing markets has resulted in our own neighbors and children having to face tough times. Readers will be amazed at how well the young authors have shared with us their thoughts on “what home” and “what homelessness” means to them. No doubt it will bring tears to many readers eyes.

We have printed 300 copies and have them available at our headquarters located at 20684 Ashburn Road, Ashburn. Please visit our office 9am-5pm Monday-Friday to receive your copy for a minimum donation of $22 to cover printing costs.
